“America's Got Talent” has continued its reign as the #1 summer show in total viewers since the series premiered in 2006. Currently in its milestone 10th season, the next million dollar act is expected to be crowned at the upcoming finale on Wednesday, September 16 (9-11 p.m. ET) on NBC.

“America's Got Talent” is the only talent competition series open to performers of all backgrounds, allowing them to showcase their skills and take the stage in front of the celebrity judge panel, as well as the entire country. Last season, America crowned their first magician as their winner. Mat Franco currently stars in “Mat Franco: Magic Reinvented Nightly” at the LINQ Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas, and will star in his own primetime special “Mat Franco's Got Magic,” Thursday, September 17 (9-11 p.m. ET) on NBC. Acts in the current season of the show range anywhere from comedians, to dancers, to mentalists, to ventriloquists – the “AGT” stage truly welcomes all.

“Since premiering in 2006, ‘America's Got Talent’ has remained the only competition series that gives entertainers of all ages and talents a chance to showcase their unique skills to a nationwide audience,” said Executive Producer Sam Donnelly. “Following the landmark 10th anniversary season, we're looking forward to discovering the next decade of exceptionally talented acts, beginning with season 11 auditions this fall.”

“America's Got Talent” is produced by FremantleMedia North America and Syco Entertainment. Simon Cowell, Sam Donnelly, Jason Raff, Trish Kinane and Richard Wallace are the executive producers.
